

Weldon Womack Jr.

May 30, 1934 - April 4, 2015

WELDON WOMACK, JR., son of the late Weldon Womack, Sr. and the late Nannie Womack, was born on May 30, 1934 in Fayetteville, North Carolina. He departed this life on April 4, 2015 at Season's Hospice and Palliative Care after a lengthy illness. • At an early age, he joined the Union Oak Methodist Church in Hope Mills, North Carolina where he remained faithful until he moved to Baltimore. He was educated in the public schools of Cumberland County, North Carolina. /

After relocating to Baltimore in 1950, he worked part-time and went to Dunbar Evening School and later attended Essex Community College where he studied Communications.

He went to work for the federal government in 1952, working as a Publication Distributor for several agencies within the Department of Defense. He remained a truly dedicated employee for thirty-four and a half years until his retirement in October 1986.

On July 23, 1964, he was joined in Holy Matrimony to Shirley Delores Beane. From this union one daughter, Michele, was born.

Weldon joined Epworth United Methodist Chapel in May 2006 and was a devoted member until his health began to fail.

To cherish his memory, Weldon leaves: his dedicated wife, Shirley Womack; loving daughter, Michele Corbin; grandson, Kyle Corbin; son-in-law, Sean Corbin; one step-daughter, Sheree Beane; devoted sister-in-law, Cora Beane; two sisters-in-law, Ida Womack and Debora Womack; two brothers-in-law,

Colburne Beane and James Beane; two sisters, Ruby Russell and Mary-Elizabeth Pouncey; nieces, nephews and a host of other relatives and friends.
