

Mr. Whit Salisbury

September 18, 1946 - October 3, 2025

Whit Salisbury Jr., son of the late Susie Salisbury and Whit Salisbury Sr., was born on September 18, 1946. He peacefully departed this life on October 3, 2025, after a lengthy illness.

Affectionately known as "Junior," he received his education in the Pitt County Public School System in Greenville, North Carolina. In 1987, he relocated to Baltimore, Maryland, to live with his sister Pearl and her family. Though unofficial by title, he proudly served as his sister's assistant at Personal Touch Beauty Salon—a role he embraced with joy and unwavering dedication.

From the moment you walked through those doors, Junior greeted you with a warm smile or a quick hello that made you feel right at home. He didn't just hold the door—he opened hearts. His kindness, humor, and easygoing nature made him beloved by all who passed through the salon.

Junior gave his life to Christ in 2010 and became a faithful member of Good Shepherd Baptist Church, where he worshiped devotedly until his illness.

He enjoyed listening to music, dancing, spending time with family, watching movies, and—true to form—eavesdropping on a bit of gossip. He loved going to church, sharing meals, drinking coffee, reminding everyone that he could still drive, and visiting family back home in North Carolina.

Junior was preceded in death by his parents, Susie and Whit Salisbury Sr.; his brothers, Willie Lee Salisbury and Clarence Salisbury; and his sisters, Mary Francis Knight-Booker, Juanita Salisbury, and Janice Crosby.

He leaves to cherish his memory: his sisters, Pearl Little (James Little) of Baltimore, Maryland; Shirley Redmond (Rudolph Redmond) of Greenville, North Carolina; and Gloristine Gorham (Stanley Gorham) of Greenville, North Carolina; his brothers, Walter Salisbury (Sheila Salisbury) of Greenville, North Carolina, and James Earl Salisbury (Connie Salisbury) of Savannah, Georgia; and a host of nieces, nephews, cousins, and loved ones.
