“ On Valentines Day of 2016 your brother Joseph (Uncle Joey) left us to be with you. I wasn't able to say my goodbyes to neither one of you. I just feel so much sorrow and regret of thinking that I would have more time to make what ever it was right! and now the time I thought I had is no longer.... U both were my Rock I miss you and will always Love you. I hope your looking down and clearing the path for us on this Journey we call Life. Ur both with my Queen your Mother. Which I Questioned God for taking away from me. Now being a believer I know God makes no mistakes. And his way is the only way. And I wish I could've had one last talk and one last hug.
💋 Love Ann 💋

“ I would like to convey my sympathy to you in the loss of your loved one. I met William only once, but my husband spoke with him on many occasions. I do understand the pain of losing one so dear to you. I lost my mother not too long ago. We as a family found much encouragement from little notes such as this from family, friends and even ones we never even met. I also, found comfort in reading the Bible, as I'm sure you do too, so I just wanted to share with you one of my favorite accounts found in the book of John in John 11:14, 14-44, here it shares with us a wonderful experience of a man named Lazarus. We can only imagine the tears of joy when every one heard Jesus call out in a loud voice, "Lazarus, come forth!" and before the very eyes of everyone gathered there he walked toward them from his memorial tomb. We too will experience such joy when John 5:25-28 is fulfilled. Cherish the fond memories you shared together, and keep them close to your hearts, remember the things you learned from William Hightower by being a part of -William's life and pass it on to others, and William Hightower legacy will live on, not only in you, but those who love and need you at this time. Please pass on my condolences to those who knew and loved William (Bill)Hightower###imported-begin###P Land###imported-end##

“ To the family and friends, I offer my condolences. It truly is unfortunate that we must experience the sorrow associated with the loss of one we love. May you find comfort and strength from the "God of all comfort" (2 Corinthians 1:3,4) who promises at Isaiah 66:13, "Like a man whom his own mother keeps comforting, so I myself shall keep comforting you people."###imported-begin##Gwen Winston###imported-end##

“ This is so sad & I take this situation (very) personal because I “saw” this happening a long time ago. I met Bill only once and under very strange circumstances but I am TRULY sorry for what happened to him. My heart and prayers go out to his family, I can only imagine the pain that you are going thru but God knows best and he knows ALL and you will get thru this!! BILL WHEN I READ THIS POEM IT MADE ME THINK ABT YOU: When I come to the end of the road, and the sun has set for me. I want no rites in a gloom-filled room. Why cry for a soul set free? Miss me a little—but not too long, and not with your head bowed low. Remember the love that was once shared. Miss me, but let me go. For this is a journey we all must take, and each must go alone. It’s all a part of the master’s plan, a step on the road to home. When you are lonely and sick of heart, go to the friends we know. Bear your sorrow in good deeds. Miss me, but let me go. May you Rest in Peace and may you watch over all your loved ones here on earth! -A very "strange" Friend###imported-begin##anonymous###imported-end##
