“ To the family and friends, I offer my condolences. It truly is unfortunate that we must experience the sorrow associated with the loss of one we love. May you find comfort and strength from the "God of all comfort" (2 Corinthians 1:3,4) who promises at Isaiah 66:13, "Like a man whom his own mother keeps comforting, so I myself shall keep comforting you people."##imported-begin##Gwen Winston##imported-end##

“ I offer my condolences to the family of Mr Royster. It is so heartbreaking and unfair when we lose someone we love in death. We often ask, Why my loved one? That's the question families worldwide long for an answer to. Well the bible holds all the answers, and it goes all the way back to the beginning when Adam and Eve were created. Because they didn't appreciate all the wonderful things their loving heavenly father had prepared for them; they joined sides with Satan in rebellion against Jehovah. Genesis chapter 3 tells us the consequence for their actions, and Romans 5:12 tells us how they passed this legacy of sin and death to us; their offspring. Jehovah God immediatedly took steps to undo the damage that Adam did to the human race. Through Jesus, Jehovah made it possible for us to be redeemed for our sins, and once aain have the opportunity for everlasting life. As 1st Cor 15:22 says, "For just as in Adam all are dying, so also in the Christ all will be made alive." So keep those wonderful promises close to your hearts until the day they are fulfilled.##imported-begin##R Johnson##imported-end##
